The Approaching Municipal Elections

Some interest is already being manifested in the approaching municipal elections. We understand that three vacancies are to be filled on the school board, and four on the council, including the mayor. Mayor Ewan, who has faithfully filled the office of mayor for the term just ending, steps down and will not contest for re-election. Councillors MacDonald, McLeod and Beebe also step out and may try for re-election. Messrs. Chapell, Hamilton and McPhail, of the school board, complete their tenure of office and we learn will run for re-election. The slate for the election is not yet complete, but we learn that Capt. Beebe, Archie McLeod and J. W. Gresham will be candidates for the mayoralty.

Nominations will be in order during the first week in December and election will take place on or about December, the 13th.

In recent years very little interest has been manifested in municipal elections, do no doubt in a large part to unsettled conditions caused by the great war; but now that we are all settled down to business, it is the duty of every ratepayer to wake up to his opportunity and have a hand in deciding who shall administer their town's affairs in the best period of our existence.

The new St. Anne's church is nearing completion and when complete will be a picture of architecture and a credit to the community. The new edifice reflects great credit upon the untiring zeal of the pastor, Rev. Father P. J. N. Gorman. The finishing touches are being effected by our capable local carpenter, C. H. Erickson.

The building will have a seating capacity for about two hundred people. The appointments are well arranged and attractive. At the front end, near the double entrance, stands the choir platform, and at the rear of the altar the vestry. Service was held in the new church for the first time on Sunday last, but the official opening and dedication will take place some time in December.

New regulations to be observed by government clerical employees at Ottawa have been issued. Henceforth letters are to be single spaced, signatures are to be typewritten, small sheets of official notes paper used where possible, and envelopes are to be used several times before being discarded. Departments will have gummed addressed labels for sealing. The recipient will cut through the label, preserve the envelope and use it again by sealing the flap with his own label. Even the messengers are cautioned not to discard, twine, but to use it as often as possible, and when it is beyond further use to forward it to the superintendent of stationery.

It seems that birds such as Spracklin and Delaney are all classed alike by attorney general. It's evidently coming to a point where the boy who proves himself willing to qualify as a criminal an attorney-general would have him with him always.

A writer remarks that modern woman conceals her emotion. Thank goodness that is one thing the modern styles don't reveal.

Public Notice

Oddfellows Will Hold District Meeting Dec. 6

Arrangements are being made for the first annual district meeting of District No. 12 of the Alberta Jurisdiction of the Independent Order of Oddfellows.

The meeting will be called at Coleman on the afternoon of Monday, December the 6th, to be presided over by W. J. Bartlett, of Blairmore, district deputy. The meeting will be attended by the executive, comprising two representatives from each of the five lodges in the district, viz: Pincher Creek, Cowley, Pellevue, Blairmore and Coleman. The Grand Master of Alberta, and other grand officers will also be present.

Matters vitally affecting Odd-fellowship in this district will be discussed at this meeting.

The convention session will be open to all third degree members of the Order who can make it convenient to attend.

It is also thought probable that the Grand Master and his staff will pay an official visit to either Pincher Creek or Pellevue on the night of Saturday, the 4th, if a special meeting can be arranged for their reception.

Considerable dissatisfaction is expressed at the location of the Blairmore detachment of the Alberta Provincial Police at the Sanatorium, Frank. If the police are to be of the desired service to Blairmore and district, the barracks should at least have a central location. At the present time, if a drunk requires police assistance he has to wait till that officer navigates his way over a mile of road, and by the time he reaches the patient the latter is next to sober. The suggestion was made a year or two ago that a barracks site would be set aside in the west townsite plan of the West Canadian Collieries, and we believe now that with the promise of efficient police officers who intend to do their duty in the proper enforcement of the laws of the land, that such a proposition would be considered seriously by both the Coal Company and the police department.

He unspun the dog's chain and Joe sprang up and left a wet carcass on the man's cheek. Then with a low whistle of welcome he bounded away.

"Get down, Joe, you good-for-nothing dog, get down," commanded a voice, and McTavish turned to see Mrs. Ross and Mary Ann coming up the path.

"Good-mornin', good-mornin'," he shouted. "Well, well now, but you two are early visitors. Isn't it a grand mornin'?" Come up to the house—the little m'ell be glad to see you both."

"How is the day?" Mrs. Ross, rather out of breath from fighting off Joe, set her basket down on the grass and leaned against a tree.

"I can't say she's any stronger, widder."

"Verily, 'all flesh is as grass,'" sighed the good woman, shaking her head dolefully.

The man glanced up quizzically. "Ma is quoting Scripture," explained Mary Ann. "She says we all should work according to some text in the Bible."

"That golly man, Mr. Smythe, has taught me much, Daniel," proclaimed the widow, stroking her basket, "not sayin' but what I was disbelievin' that flesh was anythin' like grass till Mr. Smythe pointed out the very words in Lukeromans, 8th verse. My, but it's wonderful things the good Book teaches us."

McTavish looked, at Mary Ann. The girl was smiling and her black eyes were dancing with more than the zest of life. He took the basket from the woman's hand and they passed up the path toward the house.

"I can't just understand what's wrong with ma," said McTavish. "She don't seem to suffer any, just grows weaker day by day. She's too weak to be carried a long distance to see a doctor, and it's too far here for a doctor to come. I wish I knew a doctor to do."

Mary Ann laid her hand on his arm. "Why not get old Betty to come and see her?" she suggested.

"Mary Ann!" The widow-still on the path and eyed her daughter sternly. "What does the good Book say about witchcraft but that it's red in the cup and stings like a snake in the grass?"

"You're thinkin' of the verse as cautions man against strong drink, widder," corrected McTavish kindly. "I look not upon the wine when it is red." Do you know, he went on slowly, "I've been thinkin' as maybe Betty can cure people. We know she cured some of our people right here in Bushwhackers' Place."

"Yes," nodded the woman, "she did, and it do seem strange that witchcraft could do anythin' as is real good, don't it?"

Gloss met the visitors at the door and clapped her hands with delight.

"Oh," she cried, "the girls are in! you would both come over this mornin'. What day suppose you are doin' Mary Ann?"

"That's easy to tell," returned the widow, sniffing the appetizing atmosphere. "If the girls are in, you are bakin'. I don't know cookies or bakin'. Dear heart, if there ain't about thirty women here!" She crossed the room and bent over the willow couch.

"And do you got up early, too, deary," she said, taking the thin hand lying on the coverlet in hers, and patting it caressingly. "Goin' to help with the bakin', eh?"

"My, if you'd only heard her bossin' Granny and me around, you'd think she was takin' a hand all right," cried Gloss, "and she's that wasteful, Mrs. Ross, bound to use twice as many eggs as are needed, and she won't let us use pork-ryin's for shortnin'! We got to use pure lard, think of that!"

"They are contrary," charged the invalid, her eyes resting tenderly on the tall girl who, with sleeves tucked up above the elbows, was dishing disks of dough with a can-top, "but I make them obey, Mrs. Ross—don't I, Granny?"

"Aye, Mary, that you do," smiled old lady, placing a basket of newly gathered eggs on the table. "But we'll us stand it for long, for I've seen you'll be up an' aroun' an' doin' the cookin' yourself!" An then we'll do the bakin', went on Betty.

"We will," cried Gloss, "we will make her do all the bakin', Granny."

"McTavish entered, carrying a big golden pumpkin in either hand. "Declate says he wants these pumpkins," he grunted. "Boy and me raised these pumpkins just so's we could have 'em for Mrs. Ross's pies, and Declate has been hangin' around our cornfield all fall hantin' mighty broad that we'd find him when we make 'em."

"I guess three or four won't come amiss at the bee, eh, Mary Ann?"

"Yes, I'll pick the pumpkins in the girl's lap and pinched her red cheek."

"Somethin' I wish there was goin' to be a weddin' as well as a loggin'," he teased. "Haven't had a chance to play 'Old Zip Coo' weddin' march since Peeler's big fiddle married French Joe's little Marie a year ago. The old fiddle 'll begin to think this big bush place is gettin' behind the times."

"Mr. Simpson don't take to fiddle-music," observed Mrs. Ross with a sigh.

Gloss glanced quickly at Mary Ann and the eyes of the bush-girls met in a look of mutual understanding.

"Bill, Pauley Jones, he's comin'," cried Gloss, dropping the long on of brown fragrant cookies on the table and reaching for the old violin.

"Play," she commanded, and Big McTavish, sitting on a corner of the table, struck up the old tune of "The key in the Straw."

In and out, up and down the room the flash of the old violin on of grace. The warm blood showed in their cheeks, the wild life in their eyes. Not many days ago the girl quick music of that old tune, but Gloss and Mary Ann had learned how to dance.

show Boy that it's useless to worry about today's landlady. Nobody can steal it, Mac, believe me, I know."

"Of course you know, pa," He arose and hastily left the house.

Widow Ross, in white apron and bare arms, was dissecting one of the golden pumpkins on a block of wood outside.

"And he'll likely have a fine day for his loggin'-to-morrow," she remarked as McTavish passed.

"There'll be quite a crowd there, I bet," returned the maid. "I've sort of led 'em all to expect a good feed of cut-and-widder."

"Oh, you go along, you blarney," cried Mrs. Ross, "but she cut into the pumpkin with renewed vigor and started to sing:

"Oh, we'll cross the river of Jordan, Happy, happy, happy, happy, Cross the river of Jordan, Happy in the Lord."

McTavish listened in wonderment, then with a chuckle made no more of it. "The woman back him stay a moment."

"I'm not just sure I don't right in dausin' in this 'ere church," he cried. "Mr. Smythe used to think dausin' wrong, same's smokin' and such."

"Triumph, well now, it seems as Smythe's been preachin' quite a lot to you, widder. See him often?"

"Pretty often," answered the widow slowly. "He's been over to my place some three or four times during the last few days. He's a very nice man, and a good livin' one."

McTavish scratched his head and looked at the widow.

"Humph," he nodded, "quite so, widder." (To be continued.)

Holland Developing Her Coal Resources

Needs Over Six Million Tons Every Year.

Although an agreement between Holland and Germany provides that the latter is to supply 90,000 tons monthly to Holland, the Dutch Government fears Germany may not be able to spare that much fuel now, and has worked out plans to increase Dutch coal production through Dutch mines in German territory near Aisla-Chapelle, Holland.

Under government management production has increased 100 per cent, while private mines could only increase their output by 30 per cent. It is hoped that within 10 years Holland will be able to supply out her own mines all coal needed—about six and a half million tons per annum.

For years I have never considered my stock of household remedies complete unless a bottle of Minard's Liniment was included. For burns, bruises, sprains, frostbite, and all other ailments it is excellent, and I know of no better remedy for a severe cold in the head, or that will give more immediate relief than to inhale from the bottle through the nasal organ.

And as to my supply of veterinary remedies it is essential as I have very many instances proven its value. A recent experience in reclaiming what was supposed to be a lost section of a valuable cows' udder has again demonstrated its great worth and compels me to recommend it in the highest terms to all who have a herd of cows, large or small. I think I am safe in saying among the patent medicines there is none that covers as large a field of usefulness as does Minard's Liniment. A real trustin' good for man or beast.

When Coal Fires Were Illegal

Nobility in Thirteenth Century Objected to Smoke Nuisance.

Coal has not always been so valuable a commodity as it is to-day. In the early days of the industry, there was a violent prejudice against coal in many quarters, and the miners were often compelled to down tools against their will. Henry III., in the thirteenth century, began by giving the people of Newcastle the Royal permission to sell the new fuel and the manufacturers of the time immediately adopted it. But the nobility of the countryside made so many complaints about the "smoke nuisance" that the King withdrew his permission. One of his successors, however, got many years later, restored the old rights to Newcastle, and also granted permission to the Derbyshire coalfields to begin work, but the fortunes of the trade varied from reign to reign. Even Queen Elizabeth, so broad-minded in many things, could not get rid of the idea that coal was bad for the health of the country, and whenever the M.P.s came up to London for the sittings of Parliament no one in the city was permitted to light a coal fire!

An extraordinary dry fog extended over Europe and part of Asia in 1783.

Former Kaiser Enjoys Freedom of Doorn

Dutch Government Relaxing Restrictions Placed on German

The severe restrictions which the Dutch Government imposed on the movements of the former German Emperor at the time of the Kapp revolution in Berlin, at the request of the Allied Powers, appear to be gradually relaxing.

William now moves about more freely perhaps than at any time since he came to Holland nearly two years ago. These movements are, of course, confined to the territorial limits set by a royal decree, including the villages of Doorn and Amerongen, but inside this territory the exile is now fulfilling his dream of living the life of a Dutch country gentleman.

He goes frequently to Amerongen, to visit Count Bentinck, his former host, and to that with the notable Schreier, who is not only the former Emperor's business agent and attorney, but also more or less of a personal friend.

Dutch guards escort him on these trips but he goes whenever he likes. Doorn has lost all curiosity in the Hohenzollerns, and only the occasional tourist halts to stare at William's automobile as it passes in the streets.

Expression of Loyalty. An expression of appreciation on behalf of King George to the message of loyalty sent him recently by the Army and Navy Veterans' Association of Canada has been received by Arthur F. Sladen, private secretary to the governor-general, who in turn has forwarded it to R. C. Irving, Dominion secretary of the association. The message to the King was despatched during the course of the annual convention held at Winnipeg.

Aerial Mail Service. An aerial mail service has been inaugurated between Victoria and Seattle, U.S.A. From 400 to 600 pounds of mail are being carried on each trip.

Skin Sufferers Read—

"I had a severe attack of Eczema," says Mr. Michael Tapley of Radisson, Sask. "My body was simply covered with eruptions. I had tried every salve and skin soap that money could buy before I hit upon Zam-Buk."

"Zam-Buk proved the very treatment I needed. I used Zam-Buk Medical Soap for bathing, and afterwards applied the Zam-Buk balm in liberal quantity. Soothing and comforting, this treatment soon brought about improvement. Presently my skin was as smooth as a baby's. The relief was astonishing! I am now a healthy man."

It's Zam-Buk You Need.

Aviators Cut Fire Losses.

Fire losses in the forest reserves of Alberta are expected to be greatly decreased this season owing to the splendid work accomplished by the aeroplane forest patrol operating from Morley. It is the opinion of a member of the department. Since the air force started their work they have been able to spot out a number of fires and by notifying the rangers, the fires were extinguished before any appreciable damage was done.

To Deny Thieves Licenses for Five Years

To merely slap upon the gas has proved such an easy way for criminals to get away from the scene of their crimes and from the police that the New Jersey state legislature at its next session will be asked to pass a rather novel bill which would provide that any person convicted at their or larceny in that state be deprived of the privilege of driving a motor vehicle for a period of five years. This penalty is to be in addition to any jail sentence or fine that may be imposed.

This bill has been suggested by Robert C. Ward, state prosecutor of the pleas for Cumberland county, New Jersey. It has been endorsed by the board of free holders of that county.

Prosecutor Ward has been moved to suggest such a law because of the new complexion given to crime by the automobile. He says that the motor age has produced a new and swifter breed of criminals. It is getting decidedly more difficult for the police to catch criminals who use automobiles to commit their crimes and to extend the circle of their depredation, he points out.

Robert Stead's
New Romance

Robert Stead, once of Calgary, now of the Civil Service in Ottawa, is to day second only to Ralph Connor in popularity as a Canadian romanticist. Like the author of "The Sky Pilot," he has chosen the west as his stamping ground. From his early boyhood he lived in the prairie country and no one knows all its many-sided life better than he does. Out of this adventurous region came his first novel, "The Bail Jumper," and "The Homesteaders." His last novel, "The Cow Puncher," is also wholly western in atmosphere and action. His new story, "Dennison Grant," so called from the name of the hero, offers some variation on the hero's previous novels in that it shifts from east to west and from west to east, just as its author himself has done. The opening chapters are laid in the ranching country of Alberta, and describe the tragic rivalry of the Y. D. gang and the Grant gang in their contention for the gay rights in a wild valley in the foothills of the Rockies. It was in the course of this exciting melee that Dennison Grant first came into touch with old Y. D.'s daughter, the wilful and vivacious Zen, the most attractive of all Stead's heroines. The story swings from Alberta to an eastern city, which has no name but is probably Toronto, then back to Alberta once more. The climax is remarkably free from conventionality and will thrill the reader with its passion and unusual dramatic situations. An intensely interesting love story, this romance is bound to be one of the big sellers of the season. It is published by the Mussen Book Company, of Toronto.

At the annual convention of the South Alberta Teachers Association held at Lethbridge last week, the convention went on record as favoring a concentration on Canadian history with an elimination of British history from the curriculum. It was considered that a closer study of Canadian history and Canadian civics would be more helpful to the pupil, and that with the taking up of both branches of history there was a lack of opportunity for that intensive study of national history which it was felt was primarily needed. In the election of officers, Mr. Aseltine, of Bellevue, was appointed on the nominating committee, and Miss Fulton, of Blairmore, was elected member of the executive committee.

Sunday School Workers. To Gather at Lethbridge.

Miss Olive Ziegler, National Field Secretary of the Methodist church at Canada will be one of the leaders at the religious Education Convention to be held at Lethbridge, Nov. 18-19, 1920. Miss Ziegler has the reputation of being one of the most successful field workers in Canada, having for many years been in this work for the Y.W.C.A. She is able to speak out of a large experience and bring much help and inspiration to her fellow workers. The opportunity to ask the advice of such a leader at the discussion periods will be appreciated by leaders who have problems to solve in their girls work.

Rev. E. R. McLean, Presbyterian Field Secretary for Sunday School Work, may be expected to bring considerable value to the workers attending the Convention. Mr. McLean will deal especially with the Primary and Junior Department work and will also devote a special session to the work among Young People and in Adult Bible Classes. A Convention of this kind gives our opportunity to all workers to learn of the most successful methods being used in other fields and to discuss their problems with other workers and expert leaders.

As already announced Mr. Wallace Forgie, the Secretary of the Boys' Work Board of Alberta will present special features of the Boys' Work Program now being used throughout Canada.

The meetings of the Convention will be held in Wesley Methodist Church. The committee in charge of arrangements are prepared to provide billets for all delegates from outside points. Registration and requests for information should be sent to Mr. E. L. Potts at Y.M.C.A., Lethbridge. Those planning to attend are requested to notify the committee as early as possible. There are no registrations or other fees connected with this convention.

Eighty-year-old Woman Completes
300,000 Mile Tour

In her eightieth year, Mrs. H. J. Lath, of Orange, Texas, who for many months of the year virtually "lives" in a Pierce-Arrow, recently completed more than 300,000 miles of touring. Early in October she arrived in New York after having been on the road since June.

"My only regret is that I cannot take a train back to Texas," she said, "but I must be back in time to celebrate my eightieth birthday anniversary in my own home."

"We Are All For Alberta"

This is a good creed for a great province. "We are all for Alberta." It is a creed that will carry us on the wings of the morning to a certain greatness. Its urge will make us lead in education and industry. It inspires our artists, our poets, our musicians. It impels us to buy Alberta coal, Alberta flour, Alberta lumber and everything else made in Alberta. It is the Aladdin lamp of provincial expansion. May this creed find lodgment in every Albertan's heart from the bounties of the Arctic. "We Are All For Alberta."

It takes something more than a vote by ballot to elect a man to the Fernie riding. It seems that the man with a puncture proof eye and a punch that will bring up his opponents like a row of herring ready for the smoke is the man who will win the day.

The marriage of Miss Clara Smallwood, of Calgary, to Mr. Robert Munroe, of Rindale, Alberta, was solemnized by the Rev. W. T. Young at the local Union church this afternoon at 4:30.

Saturday last was a sad day for some parties suffering from real ailment. After securing prescriptions it was found that there was no bogus in The Pass. Now, the attorney-general may not believe this latter, but it's a fact, nevertheless.

There is nothing in this God given country of ours that is more need of a clean up today than the attorney-general's police system. It's the source of the bulk of the rot of today, and can shoulder the blame for considerable of the law breaking that has branded the Pass of late years.

Yes, editors are wooden-headed. The editor of the Okotoks Review was set upon by a mad man of the Delaney type and hit on the head several times with a whip. It took about sixteen stitches to close up the gap and the surgeon charged him fifteen cents for a gimlet he was obliged to use to make three holes in the editor's cranium.

The post office at Granum was broken into on Monday last and about $158 in cheques and bills was taken. The thief entered a window while the postmaster was over the train.

Rev. W. E. Galloway, of the Sunday School and Young People's Department of the Methodist Church, will conduct the morning service at the Union church on Sunday, November the 25th. At night Rev. Galloway will preach at Bellevue.

All enquiries regarding matters pertaining to the Canadian expeditionary forces, such as date of discharge, service, etc., of any ex member thereof; also all enquiries regarding war service badges and medals, should now be made direct to the secretary of the militia council (Records), militia head quarters, Ottawa. The district record office at Calgary has been closed and all records transferred to Ottawa.

To encourage the following of teaching as a profession in the province, the department of education is making three interesting experiments. First, that of subsidizing free dwellings of rural teachers; secondly, that of loaning money to suitable candidates to enable them to take a course at normal schools; and thirdly, of establishing a minimum salary.

The adoption of the new tax policy by the City of Toronto is meeting with opposition.

Rev. Mr. McLeod, of Lethbridge, will occupy the pulpit of the Union church on Sunday evening next. Mr. McLeod is a young student, and a real live-wire orator.

We must commend Omet. Morally on his success in enforcing the Lords' Day Act and closing up the many joints that have been disturbing the peace of the Sabbath for so long. Last Sunday was the most orderly Blairmore has experienced for many a day.

With the bare of his brain show away, John Dugga, forty one years of age, was found dead in his bachelor home on his ranch at Whiskey Gap, near Cardston, on Tuesday morning. Apparently Dugga dug a hole there with a shotgun pointed through his mouth.

A. Bower, game warden on the Waterton Lakes Park, is not after poachers. This week he laid two complaints against Eric Haglund of the Beaver Lake country, charging him with killing a buck deer in the park and with carrying firearms contrary to the Dominion Forest Reserves and Parks Act. The cases against Haglund will be tried at Pincher Creek.

Mr. John Eaton, a governor of Toronto University, and Lady Eaton, have undertaken to give $25,000 a year for twenty years to maintain the department of medicine in the university. Part of this is subscribed indirectly by some Blairmore people who feel they are doing too much for the local educational institution by paying a paltry tax.

Not a Crime to Play Poker

Five of the citizens of Okotoks were acquitted last week of a charge against them for playing a friendly game of poker in the home of one of the contestants. The deck of cards and the pot amounting to three dollars and eighty cents were seized by the constable when the raid was made, and these were handed back to the players when they were acquitted. Two justices of the peace sat on the case something they could not agree, and another justice was called in to decide. It was held that the only way in which playing cards for money could be made a crime, was when the owner or tenant of the house was making a profit outside of what he might win or lose as one of the players.

From the Diary of A Hudson's Bay Clerk in the Seventies

By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

Making an early start next morning and taking along Pat's traps, we again made for the creek. We left our canoe at the mouth and struck up stream. An hour's steady tramping brought us to a heavier snowed out, coniferous, a little further up another dam slightly better made, and above these a splendid little backing up quite a lake of water. Even the two first dams were only intended to relieve the pressure of high water on the principal one. At the far end of the lake were three large beaver lodges, with hard beaten trails on all sides and trees fallen in every direction, many of these being cut in short lengths. There were piles of chips and every evidence of busy industry. Patrick's face was a sight, as he estimated there were from forty to fifty or even more beavers resident, and as he had a big debt with the H. B. Company, here was the means to pay it and also the choicest of food for the wife and little ones.

Walking round the lake very quietly, we selected two good stands for watching that evening, as beavers seldom come out before dark. Then, after a hasty lunch we went further up the stream, setting traps in the most likely places. Returning to the beaver village about sundown we very noisily took our places and then followed a long walk. We were both armed alike, double barrel guns of the usual H. B. style, 28 bore muzzle loaders with percussion locks, the barrels being extra heavy, making them suitable for either ball or shot, and loaded at the present time with 3 1/2 drachms of powder, 1 1/2 oz. of shot, a tight fitting wad and a round bullet on top of all. This combination was a very deadly one at close quarters. At last I noticed the water leave close in front of my stand, and some ripples followed, again, and once again. Then up burst the head of a large beaver, I immediately shot behind the ear and it at once sunk in some twelve feet of water. Stripping off my clothes and standing like Don Quixote on the bank, I was about to dive after my game, when Patrick appeared, smiling to see my usual composure. He pointed out the facts, he told me to dress, and cutting a long dry pole, secured a gun-worm on the end of it (twisted wire which we all carried for extraneous wads), and after some prodding began to turn it and then hauled in. Toy, here was a large fine beaver, and I commenced to dance with delight as it was my first one. It was now quite dusk and we started for camp on the jog, and heavy was the welcome we received on reaching here, and before long we were enjoying a delicate dish from the choicest parts of the beaver, which, and I speak from experience, is very excellent food indeed, something between young pork and lamb. Next day we were to visit the creek and repeat the watching in the evening. The first trap was not disturbed, but in the second was a beaver, which we soon despatched. This trap was set in a tiny affluent of the creek which was very shallow with a stony bed, cut banks about four feet high, lovely soft moss on the bank, with scattered spruce and birch. As Pat specially looked after the traps, they being his own property, I lit my pipe and snuggled down in the moss for a quiet smoke, while he arranged everything in order and re-set the big double spring No. 4 beaver trap (no small task I can tell you). Nothing more to do now but destroy the traces of human scent; so finally he filled his mouth with water to spurt on the willows by which he was pulling himself up out of the creek. As he had a very hooked nose and round owl-like eyes, the sight of this apparatus ascending from the creek, with his cheeks extended at their widest, was too much for my gravity, and I loudly yelled with laughter. This so startled Pat that he left go the willows and dropped into his own trap in the creek. Great was the splash, and what sounded like Indian galls filled the air. He rolled too weak by laughter to be of much assistance, I traveled to the edge of the bank and surveyed the scene. The chain to the trap allowed about two feet or more play and the Indian was caught fairly by his bare hunch, his costume at that time being breechcloth and leggings. He was in a most furious rage, and finally giving up all struggles, he sat in the water with a most sulky countenance. After a number of ineffectual attempts, I at last succeeded in releasing him. His dignity was badly hurt, and though two more beaver returned our efforts, he sulked all day. When the story was repeated and acted in the lodge that night, his merry wife and boy howled with laughter, while Patrick sat and smoked with a most injured air, and for some days afterwards sat down very gingerly.

After spending several more successful and pleasant days, and securing sixteen beaver for my share of the hunt, it became time for me to return to duty. The hunting being still very good, I decided to go alone. So one fine morning, after loading my small craft with the fur we had killed, also two beaver untouched for the Chief at Cumberland, I shook hands heartily with my late companions who looked sad at the parting. Then stepping cautiously into the canoe, away I went. On reaching the Saskatchewan I had to be extremely careful in navigation as my canoe was loaded to ten inches of the water, also the mighty river was full of drift-wood. I camped that night for the last time beside the mighty river. Well the Cree named it "Kisse-setche-wan-St-pe," the big, swift flowing river, corrupted by the white man to Saskatchewan.

Want Embargo Removed

British Butchers Petition Government to Lift Embargo Against Canadian Cattle.

Ottawa.—Continuous representations are being made to the British Government for the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle, but the replies being received convey little promise of this concession. Forty thousand British butchers recently petitioned the authorities to lift the barrier, but were told that, while Canadian cattle may be all right there is danger from herds getting infected from the United States. This theory is discounted at the department where it is pointed out that, despite serious outbreaks of foot and mouth disease in the States, not a single case has come over the border. There is a limited privilege whereby cattle may be shipped alive to certain specified places in England if slaughtered within ten days, but this is not sufficient for finishing up the fattening process after loss of weight in transport.

Another Political Campaign

Droux and Crerar Will Support Farmers' National Policy.

Winnipeg.—A mass meeting will be held in Winnipeg early in December at which Hon. E. C. Droux, premier of Ontario, and Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the farmers of the west, will speak in support of the new national policy. This will be the beginning of a series of meetings throughout the province of Manitoba to advocate the new policy of the national party, and the campaign will be held under the auspices of the United Farmers of Manitoba. The date of the first meeting will be announced in a few days.

To Make Work Effective

Canada and States Join in Fighting The Whiskey Runners.

Windsor, Ont.—The international boundary line will no longer present a barrier to American and Canadian officers in pursuit of rum-runners upon the Detroit River. Following a conference in Detroit some days ago, it was decided that to make the campaign along the border against rum-runners more effective, an American officer should accompany Canadian license squads in their expeditions and vice versa.

SHORT OF BREATH Could Hardly Walk Without Resting.

When you go to a physician to be examined for any heart trouble one of the first questions he asks is: "Are you short of breath?"

Now, when the heart becomes affected there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, irregular, irregular, beating, smothering sensation, dizziness and a weak, sinking, sick, feeling of oppression and anxiety.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves of the heart, the regulation of the heart, and the strength and restore the whole nerve system.

Mr. Stephen Crouse, East Clifford, N.S., writes: "I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn without resting as I used to get so short of breath. Doctors could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of 'Miliban's Heart and Nerve Pills' and I felt better after taking them three boxes. I am now quite well. I am now helping my son to work the farm, and can truthfully say I feel like a different man." Price 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price to The T. Milbun Co. ## Big Immigration Movement

Encouraging Entry Into Canada of Farmers and Farm Laborers.

Winnipeg.—The Ottawa correspondent of the Manitoba Free Press says: It is estimated here that the immigration movement to Canada for the present year will approximate 190,000, the new comers being very largely from Great Britain and the United States.

This total is considered highly satisfactory for the first real post-war year, especially in view of the fact that the policy of the department at the present time is to encourage the entry into Canada of farmers, farm laborers, and domestic only. The high water mark in Canadian immigration was reached in 1913, when 403,436 persons entered the Dominion.

For the first six months of the present fiscal year a total of 95,000 persons entered the Dominion, an increase of 38 per cent. over the movement for the corresponding period last year. In the matter of origin they were divided as follows: British, 52,768; United States, 30,763; other countries, 11,474.

Absolute Prohibition in U.S.

Washington.—Home brewing was brought actively under the prohibition ban when it was learned that enforcement officials had ruled against the sale of hops and malt to bakers and confectioners.

Prohibition officials admitted that the Volstead Act had been construed to mean that the sale of hops and malt as component parts of home made beer was unlawful and must be stopped.

May Now Admit Former Enemy States To League of Nations

Geneva.—Lord Robert Cecil, one of the chief authors of the League of Nations' covenant, who is coming to the assembly of the League as a delegate from South Africa, will support the proposed immediate admission to the league of former enemy states, it is expected here. Italy, Switzerland, the Scandinavian states and some of the South American nations are understood to be favorable to such a plan.

France, Belgium, Rumania, Jugoslavia and Czechoslovakia, will resist the admission of Germany and Hungary, although they are not unfavorable to Austria and Bulgaria. There are indications in the League circles that the drift toward admission of former enemy countries is strong, and likely to reach the necessary two-thirds of the members, unless a compromise is effected. The sentiment is growing that, whatever may be the merits of the case, the discussion in the assembly is likely to develop a sharp controversy which the leading members of the League desire to avoid. At the first session it is probable the immediate admission of Austria and Bulgaria will be proposed, and an effort made to have action in the case of Germany postponed to another meeting of the assembly, probably in the spring. Attention is being directed to the anomaly of admitting Germany while she is still technically at war with the United States.

May Meet at Ottawa

Meeting of Empire Prime Ministers May Be Held in Canada.

London.—Premier Lloyd George stated in the House of Commons that arrangements had been made to hold a meeting of prime ministers of the empire in June, 1921. It was asked if an undertaking could be given that no decision would be come to regarding such questions as Mesopotamia until the premiers met.

Premier Lloyd George replied that such a proceeding would be quite impossible. He said: "The expense, after all, is not on the empire, but on Great Britain."

The premier added that the question of holding the premiers' meeting at Ottawa had been under consideration.

Message from Arctic Explorer

Capt. Amundsen Sends a Telegram That All Is Well.

Copenhagen.—Captain Amundsen, the Arctic explorer, has sent the following telegram to the Beringskade, Telund, from East Cape, Siberia, bearing date of August 13: "We sailed from Nome immediately after my wife of August 8, with only three men, as the others claimed wages of £300 sterling monthly. The following day we were held up by pack ice in Behring Sea. All about well."

The foregoing is the first direct message from Captain Amundsen since he set out on his Polar expedition from Nome, Alaska, in the ship Maud, August 9. Five weeks later information reached Nome that the famous explorer's ship had become wedged in ice twenty miles off Cape Serge, 225 miles northwest of Nome, on the Siberian coast.

Prefers Work in West.

Calgary.—Capt. Evan J. Edwards, imperial trade commissioner to Canada, told Albertans that he found his work easier in the west than in any other place. He ascribed this to the breadth of the people and their forthrightness.

Paralyzing Blow is Directed at Sinn Fein Finances

Seizure of Funds is Said to be Crippling Rebel Activities.

Toronto.—A special cable from London to the Toronto Star says Britain's paralyzing blow at the Sinn Fein is directed at its pocketbook, according to the Irish office today. The office declared there was a marked cessation of Sinn Fein activity following bank raids in which records and funds were located. Stars have been taken to choke off the supply of money from America also.

A report of the Sinn Fein Minister of Finance showed £22,607 set apart for the "Self-Determination Fund." It also showed £20,000 (nominally $100,000) had been received from America in subscriptions to the Irish Republican Fund. A fund of $2,995,643 was also shown to be on deposit in New York.

Art O'Brien, secretary of the Irish Self-Determination League declared British raiders seized £20,000 from one bank, but that the amount was good good to the Sinn Fein by the banker who had the funds in charge.

Bring Turks to Time

Allies Offer Ultimatum to Force Treaty Ratification.

Paris.—A dispatch to the Hava Agency from Constantinople says: "As the Turkish government continues to postpone the execution of certain undertakings required by the Allies, notably the ratification of the treaty of Sevres by the Imperial government, the trade and financial aid given the Ottoman treasury will be curtailed. If that measure does not produce results, the delivery of an ultimatum is being considered."
